Talent! You be the Judge!

JUDGES of the 2011 Gawler Country Music Club Talent Quest are in for some tough decision making.

The Talent Quest is open to all age groups and covers a range of performance categories including Voice and Instrument.

Local and interstate artists from juniors to mature aged will line up to win money prizes, and trophies.

Having appeared in front of our crowd and our judging panel our TQ winners could possibly move on to a career path with a focus on achieving greater recognition and success in the music industry.

The Gawler Country Music Club Talent Quest gives all Australian residents an opportunity to show their special talent and to express their enthusiasm for Country Music.

We have many gifted performers and it's thanks to Gawler Country Music Club and its sponsors. Our 'self funded' talent quest allows artists to exhibit and share their talents with the wider community.

We look forward to attracting many entrants this year, and if successful Gawler Country Music Club will endeavor to build on their considerable experience of creating opportunity for our country music performers in the future.

With your support each year, The Gawler Country Music Club Talent Quest will generate opportunity and good entertainment.

Gawler Country Music Club is hoping to attract sponsors for their 2011/2012 Talent Quests. If you care about assisting people to succeed in the world of Country Music give Keith a call on 08 8255 8920. He'll be pleased to hear from you.

Melody wins Big-Time

South Australia's Melody Feder (pictured) has taken out the 2011 Norfolk Air Trans Tasman Entertainer of the Year. Melody, who's most recent success prior to Norfolk Island was at the Capital Country Music Association National Talent Quest in Tamworth, won the title from a strong field of entrants.

Melody also took home the Allen (Puds) Buffett Perpetual Trophy for the Most Original Song.
