Hi Readers

I expect you will be pleased that the weather is cooling down these days.

While our politicians and scientists are squabbling about the effects of Global Warming, we are happy to hang out our freshly washed clothes to dry on our Hill's Hoists, knowing that within an hour or so they will be perfectly dry and ready to iron... That's if you feel like ironing! Whew! Too hot for that! The wrinkled version will do fine thank you!

Talking about wrinkles... Do you have any advice for our Club Members on how to remain wrinkle free? I'm not talking about our washing now. I mean... faces and bodies.

Have you looked in the mirror lately?

Scary stuff!

It doesn't seem long ago since we were squeezing blackheads, and thinking of ways to hide our plukes/zits...and wishing we were older!

Here's food for thought on ageing... and avoiding those unwelcome wrinkles.

Children smile or laugh 400 times per day; adults smile or laugh 15 or less times per day.

Laughter benefits the body, mind and intellect and creates emotions of pleasure, peace, love, and joy.

It can control high blood pressure and heart disease and strengthens the immune system. It is the best exercise for bronchitis and asthma... improving the lung capacity and oxygen level in the blood.

So folks... To reduce your wrinkles, Smile more, Laugh more and use your steam iron often!

G'Day Members & Friends

Well our February show was a cracker with another big crowd.

Kindred Spirit did very well for their Birthday Show. Yes Folks this band has been going for one year already. We gave them their first gig in March 2009 and boy haven't they kicked on. Well done Guy's and ... Gal.

Our Guest Artist's Brendon Liley and Kristy Cox also did well.

George Dobie & Peter Tomlinson were our walkup artist's and contributed to our day. Well done to all.

Our March show should also be a great day, with Kristal Collins and Band, topped up with Patrick McMahon.

It would be great if we could get picture of these bands sent to us. It makes it very hard to advertise and promote a show effectively without all the details. It's something I will be looking at in the future. If there is no promotional material provided by a band then we may have to look at booking another act.

Until our March show

Dusty's widow Joy McKean, who recently celebrated her 80th birthday with a concert on January 21 at Tamworth, agreed. "As yet, no one has crystallised what it means to be 'country' like Slim did. He was the point of reference for country music, and I don't think we have that now. A lot of people are paying lip-service to country music for their own means, without having a genuine feeling for the music."

But no matter how good the country artist, there is still the matter of getting heard.....

In the US - where Keith Urban is a huge star - there is a vast network of country radio stations... something Australia lacks... Felicity Urquhart, who won Female Artist of the Year at Tamworth January 2010, and she sat in as host of ABC Radio's Saturday Night Country program while regular host John Nutting was on leave, says... that in the absence of other outlets, "all we can do is try our best to promote, expand and educate the listeners ... I truly believe there's something in Country Music for every Australian."

Adam Harvey gives his views..."The 'old guard' tend to forget that the traditional Tamworth crowd is getting older," he says. "I understand we've got to respect our heritage, but we've also got to make sure we're encouraging a steady influx of young performers. And if we've got to drag a few people with us to move the industry forward, we'll do what we have to."
